

Pain Management Resource Center For Injured Workers

Welcome to PMSI's injured worker Pain Management Resource Center. As one of the nation's leading providers of prescription services and durable medical equipment for injured workers, we understand that living with a work-related injury can be confusing. That's why we are here—to provide you with answers to some of the most common injury-related questions such as:

- What are the signs and symptoms for my condition?
- What medication options are available?
- What sorts of questions should I ask my doctor?
- Will I become addicted to any/all of my medications?

Click on the links below to get more information about various topics such as what medications you can take, questions to ask your doctor, and finding a pain specialist. At PMSI we care about your health and we're committed to bringing you the best resources available.
